“ I met Jan while dancing. There was a huge group of single moms who went dancing whenever they could. We played hard and lived hard and Jan is the only one whose marriage made it. She was a hoot. I taught her how to play foosball. Many underestimated us girls. We won quite a few beers or cokes. We just had fun but we consoled each other when needed. Our lives were not easy. Jan had so many losses it broke my heart each time. She still carried on. Now she can rest. I love you girl. You mean so much to me. It hurts that you are gone. I need my friend. I am sorry for feeling g selfish. I love you

“ My niece who I will miss dearly. As young women we would enjoy spending time going to amusement parks or staying home to play cards. When she moved far away with her parents I missed her and we would have many conversations about everything going on at the time and when we saw each other again it was like we were not apart. She named her oldest daughter after me and it made me feel very special. She always knew how to make me feel that way, just like her dad, my brother Cam. We also had good times with my brother Sylvio who she now can spend time with. I'm a bit jealous of that cause I miss him very much but we'll see each other again in God's time. Love you and look forward to then.
