“ Our family first met Harry, along with his wife, Ruth, in 2003. Harry’s relationship with the Lord, and his faith, inspired his new friend, Russ, and my whole family. He loved feeding homeless people & showing them the love of God in action. Harry loved seeing how God answered specific prayer requests of those they ministered to.

Harry and Ruth quickly became “Uncle” Harry and “Aunt” Ruth to our kids as they loved us unconditionally, like family. Harry taught our son to fish and he and Ruth loved to spoil our kids in any way they could. He gave generously without ever expecting anything in return. He was respected by those who knew him and when Harry spoke, people listened. Harry also had a gentleness about him that drew children (& even our pets) to him.

Harry had the funniest stories about their pets. We always loved to hear Harry tell about the dog they had that buried a dessert in the yard. I can still picture Harry saying he’d like something sweet to eat and the dog going out to the yard to dig up the treat he had stolen from the kitchen counter! He told the best stories & when you became friends with Harry, you always knew that someone had your back. Harry had a way of making people feel safe. He trusted the Lord and Harry’s faith blessed our family in countless ways. We love you Harry and look forward to joining you in Heaven!
