“ Lynn and I were classmates and friends at Alexandria Grammar School. She was always friendly and a joy to be around. She was very pretty and had beautiful red hair.

“ Lynn was always looking for someone who needed her help. I can't imagine a better cook! She took treats to my parents on a regular basis. Dad always loved whatever she brought!
When I think of Lynn, I picture her tooling around town in that dark green VW Beatle. And the offertories she and Joyce played were so beautiful. I loved hearing them play.
Lynn was a creator of great music, food, and fun. My life is richer because she was part of it.

“ When I was just a young high school kid, Lynn Turner talked me into directing the music at Alexandria First Baptist Church. Lynn, Joyce Michaels and I made up the music team. We always had the best time working together. She was a talented organist and singer. She would challenge to step out of my comfort zone and sing solid that I was afraid to do. She has always been a dear friend even when I moved away from Alexandria. She will be missed but I know she will be making music with the angels in heaven now. Go rest high Lynn!

“ I will always remember the way she was so kind and loving towards me my whole life, and how supportive she was in everything I did. One of the memories I will never forget was playing the game spoons in her living room. That was some of the best times of my life, and she was a big big part in it. I'm forever grateful that my children got a chance to spend time with Lynn.
