“ What a great friend and just a beautiful person. We go back nearly 40 years and I Never heard a bad word from any one job related or any thing else that may have come up in that highly critical business we were in. His magnetic and charming personality made him just a pleasure to be around. You just knew that he was a person that you trust your life with if you had to. He was always so proud of family, when we talk about you guys you could just see him bursting with pride. He never failed to always ask about my family .The companies he worked for were blessed as he carried their name with class and dignity. always. .God bless you.
