“ I had alot of good times with Randall. Sittinf on the phone all night and talking about everything and anything . Going to spend some time at his house with the kids and then doing everything from him showing Tristan coins and rocks and explaining in detail about them, watching movies, playing horseshoes, cleaning , cooking dinners and being that stern figure that Tristan needed in his life. He was my good friend and sons grandfather. No more pain Randall... The kids and I love you
